WORKING IN A CORE FACILITY - EMPOWERING PEOPLE WITH DATA

Miguel Fernandes is a Data scientist and the Head of the Image and Data Analysis Facility at the DZNE in Bonn. He believes that knowledge and education empower people and lead to significant improvement of the world.

With over 10 years of experience in Data Science and a Ph.D. in Neuroscience, he is fascinated by the analysis of data to extract valuable insights. Currently, he is using classical Artificial intelligence, Machine learning, and Deep learning tools to help people cure and treat neurodegenerative diseases like Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, and Dementia.

Miguel loves communicating with diverse audiences, teaching, and to work in a team to solve complex projects. He is also a strong supporter of open-source tools, accessible to people around the world to tackle their challenges.
